Big Three, West Germany Move Toward United Stand On Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Big Three and West Germany mapped strategy Saturday to meet the Soviet cold war offensive against West Berlin. The British Foreign Office said the four Western powers will meet soon, probably in Bonn.

The British statement was welcomed in Bonn, where the West German government is plugging for a meeting of the four powers' foreign ministers. The British Foreign Office said the date and level of the meeting is undecided but did not rule out a foreign ministers' session.

Soft words as well as hard words came from the Russians as the West began to number its diplomatic artillery.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev late in the day added another word to his Berlin program. He told diplomats at an Albanian Embassy reception in Moscow that the Soviet Union wants a peaceful solution to the Berlin problem and would "like to discuss things around a round table."

He specifically approached the French ambassador at the reception on the question of a settlement but informants said he also told the partying diplomats: "If at the end of six months there is no start with negotiations, then we shall have to put into effect the measures we have outlined." The Soviet Premier was quoted as recognizing the difficulties of East and West Germany agreeing to reunification.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman in East Berlin indicated the Soviet Union may take a flexible attitude in the six months of negotiations they have proclaimed before liquidating the four-power occupation of Berlin. The spokesman said the Kremlin's plan to make West Berlin a free, unarmed city might be expanded or changed in negotiations with the West.

But in Moscow the Communist party newspaper Pravda said if the occupation status of Berlin is not changed, "the danger of far-reaching unpleasant consequences may arise."

The government newspaper Izvestia declared: "Only madmen would permit the launching of a new world war to preserve the privileges of the occupiers of West Berlin. If such madmen actually appear, a strait jacket undoubtedly" (Continued On Page 13)

Khrushchev Wants Round Table Talks On Berlin Problem

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said Saturday the Soviet Union wants a peaceful solution to the Berlin problem and "would like to discuss things around a round table."

Diplomatic sources reported the statement was made by Khrushchev at an Albanian Embassy reception marking Albania's national day.

Arrest Eight Who Loaded Boat With Arms For Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bent under the weight of packing cases filled with arms and ammunition, the shadowy figures moved between a waterfront house and a yacht riding at anchor nearby.

Border patrolmen and customs agents watched through the moonlight night. The yacht was loaded before daylight Saturday morning. Then the officers swooped down.

They arrested eight men and hustled them off to jail to await arraignment on charges of violating U. S. neutrality laws by attempting to smuggle arms to Cuba.

"Why didn't you come before we loaded?" groaned one weary amateur longshoreman.

Customs Agent Charles E. Wyatt said the yacht, the Restless II, was loaded with ammunition, rifles and other weapons. He called it the biggest south Florida arms haul yet.

It was the latest in a long series of such undertakings by Cuban rebel sympathizers seeking to move arms from Florida by airplane and boat.

Club To Honor Dr. Roland Cross

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Dr. Roland R. Cross, 25-year veteran of the Illinois Health Department he directs, will be one of six persons honored Thursday at a quarter-century club meeting.

Dr. Cross joins a group of almost 50 department employees who have given such long service.

Others are Gladys Wiggs, Carbondale laboratory, 25 years; Thomas Brophy of Champaign, communicable disease investigator, one of four persons with 40 years service in the department; and Gusset Dodd and Marie Dietz, both of the Preventive Medicine Division, and Margaret Breen, of the Mental Health Division, all of Springfield, with 35 years of service each.

Iowa Boy's Steer Is Grand Champion At Stock Show

CHICAGO (AP) — A jet black taur of the youngsters show for Aberdeen Angus led by a boy many years has been discontinued with a broken leg. Saturday was used for lack of sufficient entries in the International Livestock and grain show which had been a part of the International since 1909. The Chicago show had its inception in 1900.

Winning swine championships has become almost a routine with young Anderson. His father, Oscar, a leading Poland China breeder and perennial show winner himself, said Gerald had taken about 30 championships at shows in Illinois and several other states this year.

The reserve grand champion of the junior show is a Hereford summer yearling shown by Lyle Lester, 13, of Lubbock, Tex.

Young Wood, who broke his leg a month ago while wrestling in school, shed tears of joy as the steer judge, A. D. Weber, the dean of agriculture at Kansas State College, picked his steer for the big award.

The major honors in the junior feeding contest swine show were carried off by a 16-year-old Illinois farm boy who has had phenomenal success as a hog breeder.

Ruddy faced Gerald Anderson, a junior in the Leland, Ill., high school, made a clean sweep last year when his Poland China beat out 65 other entries.

There were only 28 barrows in competition, the smallest number in years. Entries have been dwindling steadily the past few years, which exhibitors said was due to poor prices paid for prize winners.

Youth Wants Money, Kills Parents, Sister

WOLCOTT, Kan. (AP) — A studious college sophomore Friday night wiped out the three other members of his family with a 24-shot rifle and pistol fusillade at their farm home. The husky, 18-year-old youth, Lowell Lee Andrews, said he wanted money and had hoped to simulate a robbery-slaying so he might inherit the family's 250-acre farm and a $1,800 savings account.

"I don't feel anything," he said.

The 260-pound, 6-foot-2 University of Kansas zoology major calmly told officers and newsmen how he had fired 24 bullets from a rifle and pistol into the bodies of his father, William L. Andrews, 50; his mother, Opal, 41, and his sister, Jennie Marie, 20.

Lowell and Jennie Marie, a senior at Oklahoma Baptist University, had spent a quiet Thanksgiving at the modest family home two miles northwest of Kansas City, Kan. The father, a mechanic for Trans World Airlines, had been idle as a result of a weekend strike by his union. Lowell had recently failed in a sociology course at the University of Kansas, but he said there was no tension in the home nor had he been reprimanded for his grades.

After supper Friday night, the youth related, his parents and sister were sitting in the living room. He went to his bedroom, loaded a .22 caliber rifle and a Luger pistol, pulled out drawers and scattered things about to simulate a burglary, then walked back to the living room and shot the three with the rifle.

The father staggered to the kitchen and fell. The youth, believing him still alive, said he emptied his revolver in the body. In all, the elder Andrews was shot 17 times. Mrs. Andrews, shot four times, was found lying on her back near a wall of the living room. Jeannie Marie, shot three times, (Continued On Page 13)

Midday temperatures in parts of Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama were mainly in the 30s. Tallahassee, Fla., posted a cool 49 degrees. It was 85 degrees in Miami and West Palm Beach.

Showers sprinkled the southern borders of New Mexico and Arizona. Rain also spread into Oregon and Washington. Wind gusts rose to nearly 70 miles an hour at Tatouosh Island off the coast of Washington, while gusty conditions on the eastern slopes of the Rockies drove winds to an estimated 71 m.p.h. at Livingston, Mont.

The sources said the Soviet leader added:

"We would like to drink toasts with our wartime allies. But, if at the end of six months there is no start with negotiations, then we shall have to put into effect the measures we have outlined."

In Washington, the State Department press office said it had no comment on Khrushchev's display of interest in an East-West meeting. Officials said informally that demands for conferences have become a standard tactic of the Soviet Premier. But they said Khrushchev does not appear to conceive of such conferences as occasions for negotiating, compromising and resolving differences, but that rather he thinks of them as meetings for which Russia must dictate the terms and pre-scribe the results.

There were no Western correspondents at the reception.

The informants said Khrushchev turned to French Ambassador Maurice Dejean at the reception and said:

"Your country, like ours, has suffered often enough from German aggression. Why do you not accept our offer of a settlement?"

Obviously you cannot reply until you get instructions from your government."

Some Western observers felt the statement, as well as the entire background of Khrushchev's proposals to make West Berlin a

The toll of deaths in Thanksgiving weekend accidents pushed upward Saturday.

The motor vehicle was the big killer, as usual. But, as the tabulators mark, traffic fatalities were running only around the 100-a-day rate of the everyday average.

The weather was a factor. The northeastern quarter of the country caught the end of the big snow and sleet storm. It was fair in most other sections, but snow and ice patches were on the roads of most northern states as far west as the Rockies. Dangerous highways prompt most drivers to slow down.

TEST MILK FOR RADIOACTIVITY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radioactivity levels in milk collected in August at 10 sampling stations remained below current permissible levels recommended by the National Committee on Radiation Protection.

The Associated Press made a survey for a comparable period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16. Accidental deaths included 394 in traffic, 32 in fires and 121 in the miscellaneous bracket for an overall total of 547.

Routt Highlights

By Marilyn Cors and Elizabeth Curtis

The juniors have suspended large cardboard basketballs from the Routt corridor ceilings. The scores for the basketball games will be affixed to the respective posters as the games of the season are played.

School athletic spirit was further encouraged through the use of posters on which was written a basketball story based on "The Third Ingredient" by O. Henry.

—RHS—

A Pep Rally was held on Tuesday, November 24, in the Routt auditorium to usher in the '58-'59 basketball season. Principal Edward Plichta and Coach Robert Winstead addressed the students. Then the cheerleaders introduced new cheers.

The Junior Varsity had a very successful opener for the basketball season. The Junior Varsity score was: Indians 61; Rockets 63; the Varsity score: Indians 36; Rockets 76.

—RHS—

The Thanksgiving number of the "Salve Regina" edited by the Regina Latin Club was distributed on Tuesday, November 25. The staff members include: editor, Sue Flynn; contributors, Mary Lou Langdon, Marilyn Cors, Elizabeth Curtis, and Marilou Crowe.

—RHS—

A Combination Band-Chorus-Speech program will be presented in Routt auditorium on Monday, December 15.

—RHS—

A Day of Recollection was held Wednesday, November 26. The retreat master was The Reverend Leonard Rathgeb of St. Mary's Church, Fieldon, Illinois.

—RHS—

Monday, December 1, will be Parents' Day at Routt. All parents are asked to confer with the faculty in order to receive an evaluation of their children's accomplishments.

LOCAL DEALER, WIFE VISIT NASSAU

Mr. and Mrs. John Cully, 1301 South Clay avenue, are pictured while guests at the famous Emerald Beach Hotel in Nassau during a five day stay there with many outstanding J. I. Case Company dealers. Over 5,000 dealers and representatives from all points of America are visiting Nassau during a two months period. The local couple was included in a group of 150 from Illinois and Iowa and attended the firm's world premiere showing of new equipment for 1959.

Chartered 4-engine DC-7's and Constellations afford transportation for the excursions that involve more than 15,000,000 passenger miles. The company's project constitutes the largest civilian airlift in history. Essentially a business meeting dealers and wives had plenty of time to enjoy deep sea fishing, the beaches and sight seeing.

Ashland School Area Plans Band Summer Program

ASHLAND—The Board of Education of School District 212 began making plans to institute a summer program of band music, which would provide experiences for both the band students and the community.

Mr. Durako, the band instructor, outlined a program which would provide private lessons for interested band members during June and July, band practice sessions and band concerts twice a month in one of the city parks.

The band practices and concerts will be open to all interested people in the community who play a band instrument.

A charge of $10 will be assessed all students who wish to take private lessons during June and July. This ten dollars may be paid to the band director any time between Jan. 5 and May 26.

Eugene Swager, the architect for the new school building, has stated that the building is nearing completion and the gym would probably be completed by Dec. 1.

Other topics of discussion consisted of making arrangements to equip the industrial arts department, provide bank-boards for basketball cross courts in the gym, provide space for adult agriculture classes and explore the possibility of hiring a speech correctionist on a part-time basis with Pleasant Plains.

Draft kitchen cabinets, work counters and furnishings make a kitchen a depressing place in which to work. Perking it up needn't be expensive. Plastic coverings, contact paper or a coat of paint will do wonders for a dismal room.

Cake bakers learn from experience that the size of the cake pan is important. If it is too small, the batter usually runs over the edges. Or even worse, a cake may fall in the center. A too-large pan causes the cake to be small, and the crumbs will be dry.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dahman and daughters Carolyn and Diane had as dinner guests, on Thanksgiving day, Mr. and Mrs. Favre Gould of East Alton, Mr. and Mrs. David Gould and son David of Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Barber of Virginia and Mrs. O. W. Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Owens of Macomb were Thanksgiving day guests of Rev. and Mrs. George Garris.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bolston and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Harrell of Bloomington, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scott and family were all Thanksgiving day dinner guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bolston.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Seymour and son Ned entertained the following guests on Thanksgiving day: Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Seymour and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Piercy and sons of Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitlock and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones and family, Mrs. Nannie Seymour and daughter Evelyn and Dale Seymour.

The evening Circle of the Methodist church will meet at the country home of Mrs. George Hills on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2 at 7:30.

Receives Honor From American Surgery Board

Information has been received by the American Board of Surgery that Dr. H. D. Scott of this city has been certified as a Diplomat of the American Board of Surgery.

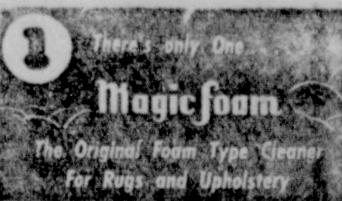

Certification by the American Board is restricted to those who have completed their specialization in the field of surgery. This includes a four year residency program in surgery, following completion of medical school and internship and a successful completion of both an oral and written examination given by the Board members.

Dr. Scott received his M.D. degree from Northwestern University School of Medicine in Chicago. He served his year of internship at Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago and his four year residency in surgery at Hines Veterans Hospital in Chicago.

Last month Rev. Kaul sold his printing equipment and joined the staff of Concordia Publishing House, synod-owned publishing firm in St. Louis where he will plan a year-round domestic tract program as well as promote foreign tract distribution throughout the world.

In the past 12 months, Pastor Kaul, through his Evangelist Press, has prepared and distributed about three and a half million tracts in 12 languages, including Arabic, Indonesian, Chinese, Efik and six dialects in the Philippines.

CWF Group Meets With Mrs. Bosier

The November meeting of the Phyllis Weare Group of CWF, Central Christian church, was held at the home of Mrs. Dolph Bosier, east of the city.

Ten members were present to hear the informative paper given by Mrs. Gus Faugust on the History of Central Christian church. Mrs. Faugust is study chairman of CWF this year and has made an extensive study of the church's background.

Deotions were given by Mrs. Della Jackson. Business was conducted by the leader, Mrs. Lyle Davis, and the group was reminded of its contribution to the CWF instead of donating toward an annual supper.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Miller Thursday, Dec. 4, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Davis read an interesting letter sent to the church recently from the Weares who are missionaries at Monieka, in the Belgian Congo. This particular CWF group feels very honored to have as it's name that of such active and young missionaries as the Weares who serve as a living link of Central Christian church. Mrs. Bosier served lovely refreshments assisted by her sister, Mrs. Roy Newberry.

Santa Arrives By Old Fashioned Sleigh

SANTA ARRIVED IN JACKSONVILLE FRIDAY afternoon by old fashioned sleigh, made possible by the year's first snow. This is the first time in the past 15 years that a snow covering heralded Santa's arrival. Jolly Saint Nick is shown entering the Public Square from North Main waving to the hundreds of boys and girls assembled. Santa's helper, Willard Jones is driving the sleigh so Santa can devote all his attention to waving to the children.

LONG LINES TO SEE SANTA filled Central Park as children lined up to tell the jolly fellow what they would like for Christmas. The large number of people didn't seem to mind the wait. Each boy or girl who talked with Santa received a free candy cane.

Protect nylons from fingernail snags by washing them in a mason jar half full of soapsuds. Cap the jar and shake thoroughly. Use same method for rinsing.

If you carry most of your weight below the waist, wearing light-colored blouses and dark skirts will help give an appearance of better proportions.

New Way Of Treating Strokes Scores Point For Use Of X-Ray

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A dramatic new method of preventing and treating paralytic strokes has chalked up another point in favor of continuing the use of X-ray in combating disease.

The recent uproar over radiation hazards has triggered charges that the application of X-ray in diagnosing illnesses is actually a threat to public health.

But doctors point to radiation's new role in fighting the paralyzing effects of strokes as proof that it can do more good than harm if handled in the right manner.

Drs. Marvin M. Kelms and John E. Whiteleather of Memphis, Tenn., report that X-ray studies of patients suffering from strokes reveal that their cause often stems from a narrowing of the carotid artery in the neck. They explain that this type of arterial disease often leads to partial or complete clogging of the vessel and severely reduces the brain's blood supply. The result is usually sudden paralysis and often death.

This discovery now allows doctors to attack the source of these strokes when the damage first starts. After an X-ray check-up uncovers a narrowing neck artery, a delicate operation is performed to fix it.

Carotid damage has been found in persons as young as 31, the Memphis doctors report. Symptoms are usually dizziness, headaches, speech defects and personality changes.

Neck surgery also has helped actual stroke victims to overcome their paralysis. The physicians explain the technique has been most successful in aiding patients whose carotid artery was only partially closed. But they believe it might be perfected to increase the recovery rate of stroke victims with completely closed neck arteries.

Another encouraging point that the doctors made before the American Roentgen Ray Society's meeting here is that the necessary X-ray examination is safe.

Recently physicians have become alarmed about the suspi-ciousness and fear that many persons have developed over X-ray diagnosis. They contend these people have been confused by reports of atomic fallout hazards and believe that medical radiation will shorten their lives.

Specialists emphasize they do not claim that X-ray is absolutely harmless. They explain that large doses of it are liable to cause bodily damage and reduce a person's normal life span. But they argue there is no evidence to prove that injuries result from the small doses used in medical examinations.

Reports estimating the amount of radiation exposure necessary to shorten life are based on amounts which strike the whole body. Doctors explain that in most medical check-ups the ray is applied to only one part of the body.

And to add even further emphasis to the safety argument, they say that these life-shortening estimates were made after experiments on animals, not men.

But due to the dangers of large frequent doses, patients are urged to make sure they get X-ray check-ups only from doctors who are experts in operating the special equipment. Health experts explain that the best guarantee for obtaining a safe examination is to go to a radiologist, a physician who specializes in X-ray treatment.

Radiologists stress that all doctors who use X-ray should constantly check their equipment to make sure that it's in excellent working order. They also urge them to make sure that radiation never strikes a patient's reproductive organs.

Strong evidence indicates that even the slightest dose of X-ray can damage genes and cause deformities in future offspring. Geneticists explain that these defects may start showing up in the patient's grandchildren.

Doll House Provides Key To Restoring Power Of Speech Lost By Brain Injury

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Dollhouse furniture is taking its place alongside the surgeon's scalpel as an effective tool for treating ailments due to brain damage.

The new, vital use for this popular children's toy is being applied to the treatment of aphasia, a complicated but common result of brain injury.

Aphasia is caused by injury to the part of the brain that enables a person to talk, write and comprehend the written or spoken word. It may be caused by a cerebral stroke, a brain tumor or a sharp blow on the head.

Many of its victims may have little difficulty in speaking or understanding but are completely unable to write. Others may lose their ability to read or comprehend anything that's said to them. Some are completely unable to speak and can utter only garbled, incomprehensible sounds.

Often an aphasia victim can pronounce words but uses the wrong ones in trying to express himself. This is because he has lost the knack for associating things in groups or categories. This ability is one of the principal requirements for memory.

It's in treating this affliction that the miniature furniture is proving effective. Dr. Joshua Ehrlich, aphasia rehabilitation expert for the Veterans Administration hospital in Albany, N. Y., has designed a group of miniature stage settings to represent the rooms in an ordinary house.

His special treatment technique calls for patients to select the right pieces of furniture to go into each room. Purpose of this play-type therapy is to give patients practice in learning how to organize their thoughts so they won't confuse things that are completely unrelated.

The system is now being tried out on 30 aphasia victims at the Albany hospital. And VA officials report that results so far have been highly encouraging.

For instance, a 63-year-old patient had to work for 30 minutes the first time he tried to furnish a bedroom. On his next attempt he did the job in half that time.

At the drill continued, the patient improved his ability to mentally group other things besides furniture. When he was finally discharged, he could answer questions about his wife, the hospital and his home without confusing the subjects as he had done when he was first admitted.

Treatment time at these hospitals ranges from a few months to several years depending upon how badly a patient's brain has been damaged. But after receiving the specialized care, many persons have been able to return to their old jobs and live normal lives.

FATAL TRAP

GLEN WILTON, Va. (AP) — A makeshift bear trap was blamed for the death here of C. W. Thomas, a Botelcourt county farmer. Coroner E. B. Morgan said Thomas, whose crops had been damaged by bears, rigged up a rifle and attached a wire to its trigger. He tripped on the wire when going to inspect his trap.

Ruth Weber Becomes Bride Of C. Housman

CARROLLTON—Miss Ruth B. Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Weber of Carrollton, and Carl Housman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Housman, were married at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday evening, in the Carrollton Methodist church by the Rev. Robert L. Pitsch, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and ballerina length skirt. Her finger-

Mrs. Housman is a graduate in the class of 1955 at the Carrollton Community Unit High School and is now employed by the Franklin Life Insurance Company in their Springfield office which position she will retain.

Mr. Housman is a graduate of the Kampsburg High School in the class of 1954.

Mr. and Mrs. Housman are making their home in Kampsburg where Housman is employed.

Dinner Marks Thanksgiving And Birthdays

Mrs. Adeline Rawlings of East Morton Road entertained at a turkey dinner Thanksgiving day for a number of guests, the event also celebrating birthdays of Mrs. Rawlings and her daughter, Genevieve Brown.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lewis, and daughter, Irene, New Berlin; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lewis and daughters, Becky and Rowena, Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Brown, sons Ronald and Rodney and daughter, Ronda Sue, all of Waverly, and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Rawlings, Franklin.

The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season.

During the afternoon Mrs. Rawlings showed moving pictures of her recent trip to Europe, and displayed articles which she brought home.

To Begin Annual Fund Drive For White Hall Hospital

WHITE HALL—J. W. Baldwin, Mayor of the city has issued the following proclamation:

Whereas, we have just passed the season of Thanksgiving for our bounteous harvest and for our general prosperity, and

Whereas, we are now approaching the season of giving to others, the Christmas season, and

Whereas, the White Hall Hospital must have supplemental funds to enable it to carry a necessary load of accounts receivable, a necessary load of charity services and to meet payments on equipment and accounts,

Whereas, The White Hall Hospital is non-tax-supported and must obtain its assistance from an annual donation program;

Therefore, I, J. W. Baldwin, Mayor, of the City of White Hall, do hereby proclaim, Dec. 1st through Dec. 7th as White Hall Hospital Week and urge all of you, when called upon, to give freely of your moral support, as well as your financial support to this cause.

It has been announced that to date, one $800 subscription has been received, two more being needed; seven donations of $385 each, leaving 17 more to secure, have been received. Five hundred contributions of $10 are also to be asked for, each employee of the hospital personnel being asked to give this amount.

The Hospital Auxiliary has approved a maintenance and repair job, which will tax their efforts for the next two or three years. The Auxiliary which was organized in May 1957, has conducted many successful fund raising affairs, and funds have not been available before this time for several much needed jobs which include removing the south porch, repairs of the foundation, and a paint job, all these to be on the old part of the hospital, which houses the Administrative offices. The proceeds from some of the Auxiliary's past endeavors will do about one third of the planned renovations, and that portion of the job will begin in the spring of 1959.

Illinois sales for the month represented 8.6% of national sales which were $377,751,000.

In the first ten months of this year, 88.4% of the state's annual quota of $430,400,000, has been reached. Only 79.3% of the year's quota had been reached at the end of the first ten months of 1957.

Relatives and friends of the new officials will attend the ceremony and extend best wishes.

New Berlin To Have Decoration Contest

NEW BERLIN — The annual Christmas decoration program will be sponsored by the New Berlin Woman's club again this year.

The contest is open to both town and rural areas. Entries should be on Friday, Dec. 19. Judging will be done by a qualified judge on Sunday, Dec. 21. Everyone is urged to enter this contest and give the community a festive Christmas air.

There will be the following four classes: 1. Outside decorations; 2. Inside decoration that can be seen from the outside; 3. Combination inside and outside decoration; 4. Business places in town.

The following point system will be used in judging:

Artistic Merit, 30 points. Design: composition and arrangement of elements; color scheme. Originality, 20 points. New lighting ideas or effects; new ways of using standard devices such as candles, wreaths, cutouts, etc.

Lighting techniques, 30 points. Use of regular Christmas lamps, flourescents, etc.

Ingenuity, 20 points. Using structure of house or surroundings to advantage.

Members of the committee who may be contacted for further information are Mrs. William Bird, Mrs. John Isaacs, Mrs. Ralph Frank or Mrs. W. K. Dunlap.

Brief News Notes

In Concert Monday

WILLIAM WARFIELD

William Warfield, baritone, will sing in Annie Mercer Chapel at MacMurray College, Monday, Dec. 1, at 8:15 p.m. He will appear as part of the Jacksonville MacMurray Concert Series, which already has brought the Westminster Choir to Jacksonville and next February will feature the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to his overseas performances, Mr. Warfield has found time to give concerts throughout the U. S., including appearances with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic. He has also made recordings for Columbia, including Brahms' "Requiem" and Handel's "Messiah."

For his program at MacMurray, he will sing a varied program of classical and show tunes.

He went abroad to sing for the first time in 1952 when he introduced George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" to Vienna, Berlin, and London. His wife, Leontyne Price, co-stars with him in the show. In 1955 he toured Europe for the State Department as a soloist with the Philadelphia Or-

Minnie Grimes Will Admitted To Probate

CARROLLTON—The will of the late Minnie North Grimes was admitted to probate and ordered recorded Nov. 25.

Richard Shirley was named executor giving bond in the sum of $10,000. The will was executed March 21, 1957, and witnessed by Theo Spangenberg and Julian Hutchens.

The executor was ordered to sell all real estate at a public or private sale and distribute the proceeds as the will directs.

The house furniture, equipment and personal belongings were left as designated in the will to the following persons: Richard Shirley, Marcus North, Marcus McLaren Hagar, Donald Shirley, Mary Louise Hardwick, Ella North McLaren, Lucy North Shirley, Russell North, Patricia Shirley, Mrs. Richard Shirley and Mrs. Donald Shirley.

All of the rest of the estate was left to the two sisters, Ella North McLaren and Lucy North Shirley share and share alike. In the event that either of the sisters predecease the testator, their share of the estate was left to the children of both sisters.

Parents of Son

A2-c and Mrs. Gary Kimbro are the parents of a son born Thanksgiving Day in a hospital in Orlando, Florida, where Kimbro is stationed at the Orlando Air Force Base. This is the second child of the couple and the first son.

Mrs. Kimbro is the former Marjorie Barnard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnard of Carrollton, and Kimbro is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kimbro also of Carrollton.

A housewife can save grocery money if she buys only what she knows the family will eat. This also holds true when preparing meals. Leftovers that clutter the refrigerator for weeks and perishable foods the family doesn't eat are pennies in the garbage pail, not in the bank.

Hardin Man Collects 2,000 Indian Relics

JERSEYVILLE — A number of interesting Indian relics have been found during the current autumn in the vicinity of the Pete Camp farm north of Kampsville. William A. Fulkerson of Hardin, who also collects Indian relics as a hobby, was in Jerseyville Friday morning, and reported that digging for relics has been progressing for the past year in the vicinity of the Camp land with considerable success.

The relics have been found in a bed of sand rather than the upper earth strata, the sand underlying the upper earth, and the sand is being systematically sifted by the excavators.

Fulkerson stated that he has a personal collection of some two thousand pieces. Part of these are kept in his home at Hardin and some of them are mounted and open for public inspection at his store in Brighton.

The Calhoun county vicinity along with western Jersey and parts of western Greene county have been a favorite place for excavating for relics commonly known as Indian relics although some of the items may date back six to eight thousand years ago and probably ante date the race found living on the North American continent following its discovery.

Fulkerson has a number of rather rare pieces in his collection. He does not go in too much for the heavier type of stone axes, but does have a number of the smaller ones. He has been of-ffered as much as two hundred dollars for one item in his collection. This is a flint object fashioned somewhat like a wedge with a handle, and is an excellent bit of primitive workmanship.

White Hall Man Stationed At Ft. Lewis, Wash.

WHITE HALL — James Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hearschel Hayes, who has been stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., has been transferred to Fort Lewis, Wash. He has served with the U. S. Army since Aug. 25, 1958.

James McClure and Gary Crammle of this city are preparing to begin their fourth and third seasons, respectively, as members of the Varsity baseball squad at Blackburn College, Carlinville. The former is a Senior and the latter a Junior at the College.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lyman and son, Boris, were recent guests of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Barenholz, at Greenville. The Barenholz's are recovering from minor injuries suffered in a recent automobile accident near St. Jacobs, Ill. Miss Rose Lyman, who is employed at the Jacksonville State Hospital, has been a guest in the Lyman home here during her vacation from her duties.

Lyle Neighbors, who was injured in an automobile accident and has spent several weeks at the Maine Medical Center for treatment of an injured neck, arrived for a two weeks visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis I. Neighbors. He expects to wear the cast which covers his body from his waist to the top of his head for several more weeks. Due to the airplane strike now in progress he made the trip from New York City by train.

C. E. Roodhouse successfully passed the examination for Grand Lecturer held Saturday, Nov. 22, at the Masonic Temple, Springfield, which was sponsored by the Grand Lodge of Illinois, A.F. & A.M. Mr. Roodhouse became a member of the local lodge in 1917, and served as Worshipful Master of the lodge in 1948. Since 1949, he has served as Deputy Grand Master of the former District 72, now the 87th District.

Knits Bloom For Winter Resort Wear Silhouette Is Relaxed Or Empire

For a winter vacation in the sun, knitted fashions are ideal companions. These are from the resort collection of Gino Paolo; all are done in a flat, firm woolknit. The lines are easy and relaxed; the colors clear and flattering. The Empire line is indicated (left) in this slim biscuit-colored dress with set-in waistband of white. Waistband dips slightly at the back. A two-piece dress in pale pink is worn (center) with matching coat that has oversized collar and deep cuffs trimmed in fringe. Dress has appliqued block motifs in contrasting color. The true Empire line appears (right) in dramatic dress of white trimmed in brilliant red. Matching coat is cut with simple, straight lines; is textured for contrast with the dress.

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEW YORK—(NEA)—In this need to arrive at your destination looking fresh and unruined. And the many changes in climate must be taken into account.

Keeping pace with the jet age are the new knitted fashions. Done in fine wool or fluffy mohair, they pack easily, never wrinkle and stretch your wardrobe in that they need no special care once you're at your destination. Cleaning and pressing services in hotels outside the United States are not always reliable. Knits avoid this worry and still keep you looking fresh and neat.

Styling in the current resort collections is divided about evenly between the Empire and the two-piece dresses with slim skirts and straight jackets.'

and is a late riser.

GREENFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Sylvester Melvin is the kind of fellow who makes the small town funeral director glad to be in the furniture business on the side.

Melvin was 107 years old Saturday.

"Want to live as long as I have? Just keep from dying," he grinned from behind his desk at the Greene County Mutual Fire Insurance Co., where he has been secretary for 59 years.

Melvin was born on a Greene County farm in 1851, and although he never wandered far, saw much of history sweep past his door.

He recalls covered wagons heading for St. Louis, Independence and points west. Civil War carpet-baggers and border raiders seeking to elude Missouri law.

As a young man, he did venture to Philadelphia for the Centennial Exposition of 1876. There he witnessed the first public demonstration of Alexander Graham Bell's new device, the telephone.

At 107, it's easy to be the oldest in most things — but Melvin does like to say he is the oldest Farm Bureau member in the country, and the oldest living graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University.

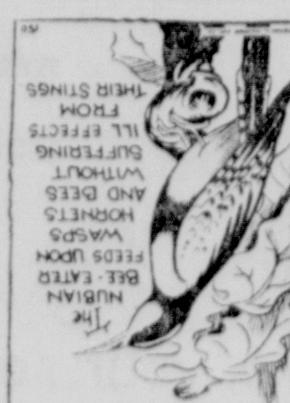

Melvin knew Ulysses S. Grant well, was one of the first men in the country to breed Angus cattle and lived to see Greene County farm land jump in price from $1.25 an acre to more than $300. He is also a former school teacher.

An every-Sunday Methodist, he eschews tobacco and strong drink as plain nuisances but still eats rib-sticking meals.

Regrets are few, but he wishes he had continued his education.

A smart way to brighten a black fabric coat for winter is to carry a fur handbag. It can be an inexpensive fur, raccoon or lapin, just so the color offers contrast.

The only reasonable answer is that they had a prospect of living through another year in the freedom for which they had left Europe. ## Mrs. Davidsmeyer Hostess To Board Of Junior Club

Mrs. Junior Davidsmeyer was hostess at the November meeting of the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club at her home, 4 Pittner Place. Mrs. Jack Mathews, president, presided. The recording secretary's report was read by Mrs. Robert Shannon and the correspondence from secretary Mrs. Roy Mason included a thank you letter from Mrs. Claude Davis, chairman of the High Fever Folles.

Reports during the evening included public welfare, Mrs. Keith Schuman, whose group wrapped gifts at the home of Mrs. John Value for a Nov. 25th Christmas party at Jacksonville state hospital.

Mrs. Robert Blazier, ways and means committee, announced there were 25 firm cakes available for selling.

American Home and citizenship chairman, Mrs. James Conte, reported Junior members have been invited to participate in the Red Cross Home Nursing Courses, the next course to get underway after the first of the year.

Miss Melba Standley, safety chairman, took cookies baked by the members to the Marquette Boys Home.

Members are to contribute for gifts to be sent to the Park Ridge School for Girls at the Christmas dinner meeting to be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 1st, at Jacksonville Country Club.

At the close of business the hostess served coffee and fruit cake. Board members attending were Mrs. Jack Mathews, Mrs. Robert Blazier, Mrs. Roy Mason, Mrs. Robert Shannon, Mrs. James Grant, Mrs. Warren Seymour, Mrs. Keith Schuman, Mrs. James Conte, Mrs. J. R. Davidsmeyer and Mrs. J. Ivan Crawford.

For a relatively small amount of money you can perform wonders. Settle on a perky color scheme if you're weary of muted, neutral colors and plain walls.

Is your bedroom due for a facelift? That's the room on which homemakers often skimp when furnishing a first home on a strict budget.

"Making do" with a good mattress, box springs, simple furnishings and never-mind-the-trifles is the policy while savings go into urgently needed appliances. If this is the year you're going to change the policy and fix the bedroom into a retreat you'll love, ideas to help you are offered in quantity in model rooms displayed across the country.

Rose-printed acrilan blankets, Austrian shade behind bed and Venetian "window" scene make for a truly different decor.

any other kind. Scatter roses over a white ground as in one acrilan blanket and you have a blanket it's a sham.

Such blankets can be used as spreads or they can show through filmy, sheer nylon coverings sized to cover blanket and pillow.

In a Venetian-styled bedroom, Patricia Harvey, member of the American Institute of Decorators, used such floral-printed blankets to pick up the floral motif painted on an antique white headboard. She also gives the bed a canopy effect by hanging an Austrian shade behind the headboard. Another neat trick for those who would like an opulent look is the use of a scenic Venetian mural on one wall cleverly set off by shutters and fake window moldings to add realism.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took it on the chin this week in the biggest one-day break in three years but was recovering sharply in the final sessions.

The net result was the second straight weekly loss. Thanks to the rebound, however, the loss was kept within moderate proportions.

The four-day trading week, shortened by the Thanksgiving holiday, had two sessions of sharp losses and two of vigorous gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.60 to $204.30, its latest record high was $207.70. The Monday rout was big enough to be set down among historic market movements. The AP average dropped $5.29, its steepest slide since Sept. 23, 1955 when it fell $1.40 in response to news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

The estimated cash loss to quoted values on Monday, based on the change in the AP average, was about $6,700,000.

Actually, Wall Street had warning of a changing mood on the preceding session (Friday Nov. 21) when the market had its worst fall in a month. This was a profit-taking sell-off before an uncertain weekend. Promptly on Monday morning the sell-off was resumed.

The big shakeout was accompanied by such news as an economy drive by the Eisenhower Administration; a number of labor disputes, the Berlin crisis and a wavering steel operating date. These items, however, were regarded generally as mere excuses for the main factors.

Of top technical importance was that the market had climbed to one record high after another for eight months without any sizable correction. It was a phenomenal rise from a level which only 13 months ago was at a low since early 1955.

U.S. government bonds edged slightly higher for the fourth trading week. Corporates closed lower on balance.

Utilities and investment quality issues moved ahead in the corporate list. Rails were unchanged. Industrials and foreign dollar bonds declined enough to tilt the average over narrowly to the downside.

Trading declined to $27,709,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $33,296,000 the previous week. A year ago the volume was $20,699,000.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — A decline in supplies steadied the butcher hog market this week and prices of barrows and gilts moved up 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight but hogs were 25 cents lower.

The market also was strengthened somewhat by an advance of as much as $3 a hundredweight for some pork cuts in wholesale markets.

The top price of $19.60 on Friday was the highest since Nov. 14 and the estimated average price of $18.75 was the highest since Nov. 11.

The cattle supply was slightly below last week with prices of slaughter steers running 25 cents to $1 higher and offerings of cattle slightly more liberal.

The percentage of prime grade steers on Wednesday was the highest for any day this year. It amounted to 15 per cent of the steer offerings while the choice grade was 70 per cent of the total.

Slaughter lamb trade was active until the Thanksgiving holiday at prices steady to 50 cents higher with most of the advance on woolen kinds. All interests were in the market and about half the supply was taken by one order buyer. Ewes were scarce.

CHICAGO (AP) — Here is a summary for the week of the hog, cattle and sheep markets with estimated receipts for Saturday:

Hogs 100: barrows and gilts 25-50 higher, sows 25 lower. At the close several hundred No. 1 190-215 lbs were included in receipts at 19.35-19.50 with 75 head uniform in weight and grade at 19.60. Mixed grades No. 1 to 3 190-220 lb weights brought 19.15-19.35 with most No. 2 and 3 200-225 lbs 18.75-19.15, Bulk No. 2 and 3 230-260 lbs closed at 18.25-19.75, most 270-290 lbs 18.00-18.25 and small volume up to 300 lbs down to 17.50. Sows weighing 330-350 lbs sold largely according to weight from 15.00-18.75.

Cattle 200: Heifers mostly 50-75 higher. Cows 25-50 higher. Vealers steady to strong. At least a dozen loads prime 1125-1300 lb slaughter steers 28.75 and 29.00 including several loads which arrived with show herds, week's bulk choice and prime fed steers 26.00-28.50. Load lots choice and mixed choice and prime 1000-1100 lb weights 28.00-28.50, good steers 25.00-27.00 according to weights, 1300-1375 lbs weights 25.00-25.75, under 1100 lbs 26.00-27.00, few loads mixed high good and choice 950-1000 lb steers up to 27.50. Most good to high choice heifers early 25.50-27.50, mostly 26.00-27.75 late. ## MOST GRAIN FUTURES CLOSE WEEK LOWER

By GIL MAYO

AP Business News Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The trend of grain futures prices was lower this week on the Board of Trade although there were a few scattered small plus signs in the list. Most setbacks were small but some ran to fractions under two cents a bushel in one of the slowest weeks in recent months. The few spurts of bullishness were short-lived and of limited force.

Some influences that had hit the market with effective impact in other times scarcely caused a ripple lately. Dealers say that prices now are so tightly squeezed between slow commercial demand and abundant supplies that it is essentially a government market.

The reference is to government price supports for the various grains and the amounts of each that producers will place in the loan programs.

At the end of the week, wheat was 3-1/2 cents a bushel lower than a week ago, December 1.94-1/2; corn 1/2 lower to 2% higher. December old type contract $1.33-1/2; oats 2-1/2 lower, December $1.30-1/2; soybeans 17/8 lower to 1 1/2 higher, January $2.14-1/2.

THIS WEEK IN BUSINESS

By WALTER BREED JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A wildly fluctuating stock market produced a mild flurry of apprehension among U. S. businessmen this week, but the general business recovery kept rolling right along.

The stock market, which reflects the way investors feel about business rather than the general trend of business itself, finished the week with a strong upward kick after going down for its biggest loss in three years. Rightly or wrongly, many businessmen regard the fast comeback as a favorable omen.

Stock sales in the latest week totaled 16,941,099 shares compared to 20,714,010 shares in the previous week and 12,316,030 shares in the corresponding week last year.

Bond sales had a par value of $27,709,000 in the latest week, $33,286,000 last week and $20,699,000 in the same 1957 week.

Consumers paid little heed to the market's roller coaster antics. Spending in the nation's retail stores continued at a fast clip. Some merchants said customers were off to an earlier than usual start on their Christmas shopping.

Steel production moved up a notch. Auto output topped last year by a sizable margin. Ford Motor Co., scheduling a five per cent production boost for December, said its assembly line workers will get seven million dollars in extra overtime pay between now and Christmas Eve.

The head of the nation's largest non-food retailing enterprise, Chairman Fowler B. McConnell of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said sales and profits of the big chain are on the upbeat, and when all the figures are in, 1958 should turn out to be a better year than 1957.

The Gas Appliance Manufacturers' Assn. said producers of stoves, furnaces, dryers and other gas-fueled home appliances have just recorded their best month in more than two years and see no signs of letdown.

He was a retired mail carrier; a member of the Concord Christian church.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. at the Concord Christian church. Rev. Don Hatfield will officiate. The family will meet friends at the Williamson funeral home Sunday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. Burial will be in Concord cemetery.

Fines Assessed By Magistrate

Several fines for traffic offenses were assessed by Police Magistrate Fred Daniels at the city hall Saturday morning, each arrest having been made by the police department.

Those fined and amounts were as follows:

Jay Leahy, Glenarm, Ill., $35 for reckless driving; William Fischer, $5 running stop sign; Willitt Pierce, Winchester, $5 speeding; Marshall Manker, Arenzville, $5 speeding; Eleanor Perkins, $5 speeding; Riley Powell, $6 speeding; J. A. Lee, $6 speeding.

Four were fined for parking violations.

The speeding complaints were based on radar evidence.

$11,492 Paid For Scott Farm Land

John and Bess Mosley were high bidders Saturday afternoon for the 68 acres of farm land sold at a Master's sale of real estate in Winchester. The sale was held at Scott county court house at 2 p.m., by Middendorf brothers of Jacksonville.

The bid entered by the purchasers was $160 per acre, making a total amount of $11,492.00.

Attorneys for the transaction were Hutchens and Mann of Winchester. The sale was held by court order in a case in which Carl Perkins is the plaintiff and John Perkins is the defendant.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

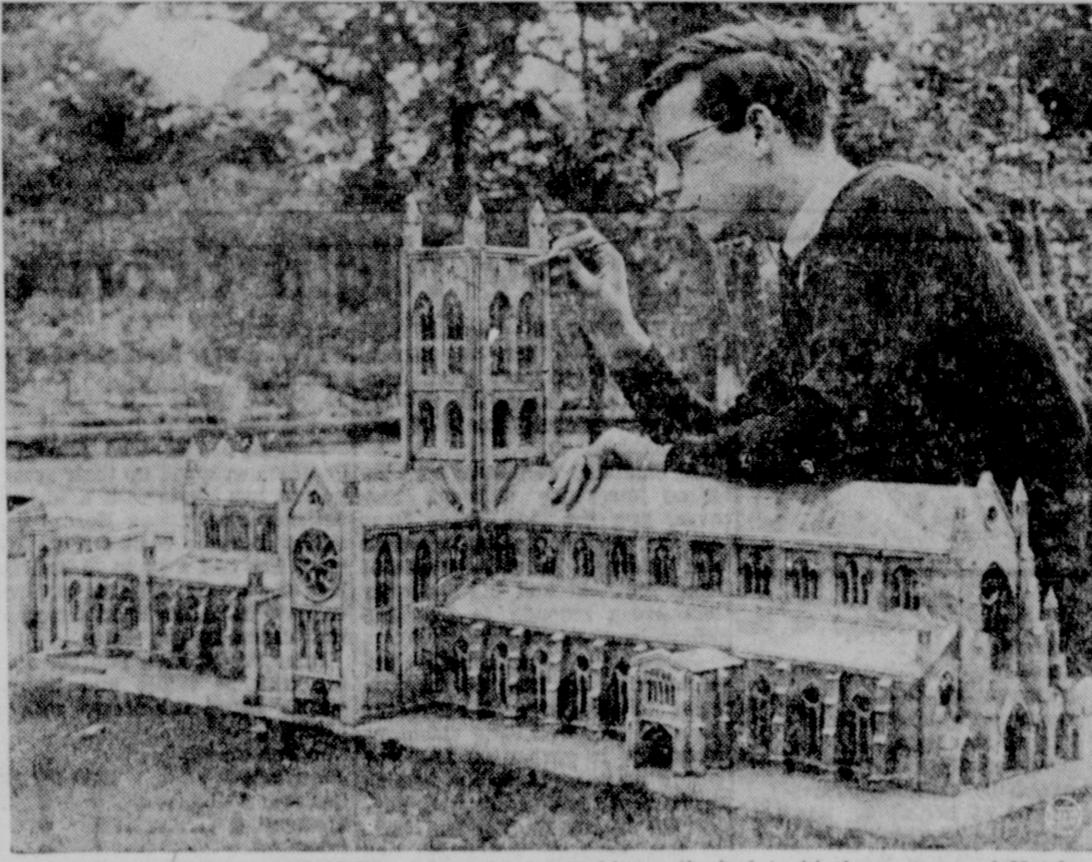

CHICAGO (AP) — Estimated live-stock receipts for Monday are 16,000 hogs, 22,000 cattle and 3,500 sheep.

MODEL CHURCH MEMBER—Determined to add a cathedral to his home town of Hatch End, Middlesex, England, 24-year-old Brian Ferris works on his miniature masterpiece. He has already spent more than five years on the model, which is made of concrete blocks, with copper roofs and wooden pinnacles. It is six feet long, with a two-foot-high steeple, and is as carefully detailed inside as out.

Youth Wants Money, Kills Parents, Sister

times, was lying face down near the opposite wall.

Lowell Lee, who plays bassoon in the university band and who had been a top grade student in high school, then drove back to his room in Lawrence, Kan., site of the university; threw the guns into the Kaw River; talked with a fellow student; attended a movie, and returned to his home here around midnight.

He then called the sheriff's office.

When officers arrived, they found the besieged youth sitting on the sun porch stroking a pet Pekingese.

At first he insisted burglars had slain the victims. But three hours later, after a visit with his minister, he admitted he was the killer. "He was the most unconcerned murderer I ever met," reported Lt. Ralph Athey of the sheriff's office.

From a base in Colorado, Moscow would be within range.

From Cape Canaveral, which is used only as an experimental and test site, Moscow would be within reach.

If the Air Force later should choose to install a heavily protected launching site in Alaska, all of Eurasia would be within the range of an ICBM.

In handcuffs and leg irons, the youth was arraigned on a first degree murder charge.

TERMINATE CONTRACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is ending its multimillion-dollar contract for the Rascal, a bomber-launched missile, because advanced ones have been developed.

All Rascal missiles now under contract will be delivered, but no more will be ordered from the manufacturer, Bell Aircraft Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., the Air Force announced Saturday.

The contract termination also will mean cancellation of orders for spare parts.

Air Force spokesmen were unable to say how much has been spent in the program. The initial development contract was for about 22 million dollars.

It wasn't a case that they wouldn't give me what I wanted," he said. "It was a case they couldn't... I would like to have had a sports car. And I would have liked to have had a million dollars."

In handcuffs and leg irons, the youth was arraigned on a first degree murder charge.

PLANE AERIAL KON-TIKI EXPEDITION

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Two men and a woman who hope to float across the South Atlantic in a big balloon sailed Saturday for their launching site in the Canary Islands.

The aerial Kon-Tiki expedition is headed by A. B. Elcoate, 51, a London businessman. His crewmates for the 46-foot diameter balloon, "Small World," are Colin Mudie, 31, and his wife, Rosemary Mudie, 39. Mudie is navigator.

However, against these potentialities are balanced other factors.

If American rockets can fire over those distances, presumably Soviet weapons could do the same.

Furthermore, up to this point both the Soviet and American tests seem to have been essential for purposes of range and not pinpoint accuracy. That is something which the United States has not yet done.

A court order also restrained about 8,000 flight service and service employees of Pan American World Airways from refusing to accept overtime assignments.

The order was signed by New York State Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio. It called upon the Transport Workers Union to show cause Monday why a preliminary injunction should not be issued against it to prevent a "strike work stoppage or slowdown."

Pan American, in applying for the order, said TWU members had interfered with flight operations by refusing to work overtime. It said such refusal was a violation of the contract, which expires Monday, and a violation of the Railway Labor Act.

Laws unaffected by the walkouts added extra sections to accommodate the passenger flow from Eastern and TWA.

About 35,000 employees are idle as a result of the strikes at the two airlines.

Two blonde bears, scrapping for food in the garbage near Rainy Lake, Ontario resort, have a strange appetite. They eat only potato peelings which have been doused with gasoline preparatory to burning.

Army Bounces Back To Claim 22-6 Triumph Over Navy

Harry Grayson's
SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—(NEA)—As one of the great financial battles of all time comes to an end, New York sports fans are in agreement on two things. First, never let your wife see the loan payment book. The other is a statement which sums up the sports year 1958: "I don't know how we do it."

Difference here is to the end of the racing season, of course. It officially closes for New Yorkers, Dec. 17, when the last bus leaves Pimlico and starts up the turnpike for home. The town's own tracks, Jamaica and the harness plant, Yonkers Raceway, close on Nov. 29.

The assault on the pari-mutuel machines started early last February, when 2,500 players were snowed in at Bowie and had to spend the night in the clubhouse. That set the pace for a year in which people bet, through thoroughbreds and harness horses, something like $300 million in New York alone. There is no way to figure out how much New York money was wagered at the three Maryland and three New Jersey tracks.

How the money held out is anybody's guess. Even the veterans found it hard to believe. In Jamaica's final days, for example, a friend escorted us to a vantage point near the clubhouse $50 mutuel windows and pointed to a slim man heading for the window.

"We call him 'Dillinger,'" said my man. "He just don't look like a guy used to having money. Yet he is betting the war debt."

We laughed, but a couple of nights later, over a midtown restaurant, our man hopped to inform, "Remember Dillinger?" We were right. The guy robbed a bank he was working for.

"Imagine," he said wonderingly, "the fellow went out and stole for The Game." You can't ask more of a man than that."

This is merely a little side shadow to a fascinating situation. New York went with only one major league baseball team, instead of its customary three this year and all hands set up a wall about it being a dead sports town. Which it undoubtedly is, if you look at boxing, baseball and college football and basketball as major items.

Racing, whether it be the flats or trot, changes the picture totally. There is no blue grass on Second Avenue. The sloping pastures of East Flushing are crammed with housing units. But New York is the horse capital of the universe.

The good player, as it has been observed many times, always can come up with money for the next race. Nowhere has this theory been more severely tested than in New York this year.

As for the quality of racing seen, it was Don Fair, the veteran chart caller, who put it best upon his return to the local scene after a long absence.

"Every day is Kentucky Derby Day here," he noted.

The biggest single thrill of the season came when Cavan, reaching out a little more with every stride, seemed to wear down Tim Tam in the long, deep, demanding Belmont Park backstretch, then busted out in the stretch to win the Belmont Stakes going away. He left Tim Tam a sad, broken-down colt which had to be retired.

But now all this is gone from New York, and after Dec. 17 there will be time to meditate, pay off the loans, square the landlord, buy the wife and kids Christmas presents.

There isn't too much time, however, because spring, for New York bettors, comes on Feb. 7, when Bowie's "Spring meeting gets under way."

In the meantime, the more diligent players will take advantage of Tropical Park's jet plane package trip. The flight to Miami requires only 2 hours and 15 minutes and same-day round trip tickets are being sold at a cyclone rate.

The punters must keep in practice.

Court Jitters, Ashley Cooper Halt Buchholz

By WILL GRIMSLY

Associated Press Sports Writer
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The meteoric tennis rise of 18-year-old Earl Buchholz of St. Louis was halted Saturday by an attack of center court jitters and Australian's Ashley Cooper.

Cooper, holder of the Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships, trounced the nervous young Yank in the final of the New South Wales Tournament, 6-0, 6-1, 7-6, 6-2. But American officials continued to hail the tall crewcut junior as "the finest tennis prospect since Pancho Gonzales."

The experienced hard-hitting Cooper raced through the first two sets in half an hour with the loss of only 22 points before Buchholz managed a brief and futile rally.

"I was so scared I couldn't even throw up the ball," the boyish American said afterwards. "I was in a daze. Gosh, I was glad to get that intermission so I could catch somebody what had happened."

In a crack tournament field which included eight of the 10 players rated the best in the world, the unseeded Buchholz had reached the final with sensational victories over teammate Alex Olmedo of Peru and Australians Mal Anderson and Roy Emerson.

Saturday, tense and unhinged and facing the world's finest amateur, the St. Louis youth was only a shell of the player he was during the past week.

His service lacked depth and authority, Cooper stepped into his delivery and put it away off both backhand and forehand.

Buchholz also was weak and defensive with the volley, tennis' main attacking weapon, and instead of punching net shots for kills merely set them up for Cooper's powerful ground strokes.

The 23-year-old Aussie raced through the first six games in 15 minutes, lost his service in the first game of the second set, then won six in a row again.

Buchholz managed to hold his service until the ninth game of the third set. Then Cooper broke and went ahead 5-4. With everyone thinking the match was over, the youthful Yank rebroke Cooper in the tenth game and held his own service at love to take the lead.

The crowd at the White City Stadium cheered the American wildly when he broke again in the 16th game and won the set.

There were cries of "come on Earl" and "go get him Yank" and Buchholz tried desperately to oblige after the intermission but Cooper's experience and superior stroking ability were too much.

Austin Captures Chicago Prep Crown, 20-7

CHICAGO (AP)—Austin's Public League football champions scored twice in the last quarter Saturday to defeat Fenwick 20-7 and win the city prep crown before 53,264 fans in Soldier Field.

Austin, winning its ninth straight game of the season, became the 13th Public League school to take the city title. The Public League now leads the annual series 13-10 over the Catholic League champions with two games tied.

The loss was Fenwick's first in 12 games. It was Austin's third city crown and first since 1947.

Austin gained a 7-7 tie early in the last quarter on George Hides' one-yard plunge. Later Austin scored again, Larry Preo sweeping end for 10 yards.

Preo completed 7 of 12 passes for 55 yards.

Betting Forced Removal Of Navy Cage Captain

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Midshipman John Mascali's participation in a football betting pool was the reason for his removal as Navy's basketball captain, a Naval Academy spokesman said Saturday.

Academy officials confirmed Friday that Mascali had lost his captaincy although he is still a member of the team. They said the demotion was part of his punishment for violation of a academy regulation involving "conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline."

Cmdr. Marcy Dupre, academy public information officer, said "No solicitations in any form are permitted at the academy—including football pools. Pools may be all right at other schools, but not here."

Civet Survives Foul Claim To Collect $57,100

NEW YORK (AP)—Civet came from next to last in a nine-hour field Saturday and captured the $57,100 Display Handicap at Jamaica, but had to survive a foul claim before it was official.

The 5-year-old gelding, who runs best the farther the distance, moved into the lead rounding the head of the stretch and drew off by a three-length victory over Casual Friend.

Jockey Bill Peake was third, another six lengths behind, and the 21 favorite, Beau Diable, finished fourth, a length and a half farther away.

Civet was ridden by Jockey Bill Peake in the two miles and a sixteenth marathon, longest in New York. The program ended the 210-day New York racing season.

Civet shot in toward the rail in the final bend with about three-sixteenths of a mile to travel. Casual Friend, with Ismael Vazquez up, was right behind, while closest to the rail was Jockey's Walk.

The movies showed Civet came over toward Jockey's Walk on the bend. Casual Friend was directly behind but was not bumped. Civet gained the lead and opened up his victory margin. The judges let him have it, a $36,515 decision.

The time was 3:34 1-5.

Civet paid $24.10, $6.80 and $5.40.

Casual Friend returned $9.40 and $5.70 and Jockey's Walk was $4.90 to show.

TCU Bows To Mustangs, 20-13

DALLAS (AP)—Dauntless Don Meredith, the Mr. Do Everything of Southern Methodist, accounted for all the points Saturday as the Methodists put a 20-13 smear on Cotton Bowl bound Texas Christian's record.

Meredith passed for two touchdowns—5-yard shots to Tiley Wilemon and Glynn Gregory—and rammed across himself for the third score. He also ran over a conversion.

It was a humiliating defeat for the Southwest Conference champions. TCU had clinched the title a week ago.

Southern Methodist played like fury, thinking it had a chance of getting into a bowl game with a victory. It had figured on the Sugar Bowl but that chance was lost when Clemson was picked during the game to go to the New Orleans classic.

Meredith, the star, was helped greatly by Gregory, who took pitchouts from him and threw two long passes that set up touchdowm. One was a 42-yard pitch to Pat Nell and the other was a 47-yard throw to Wilemon.

The final SMU score was set up by a TCU fumble.

A crowd of 49,000 watched TCU take the lead on a 21-yard Hunter Ennis pass. SMU then went ahead on Meredith's run of the conversion.

TCU went back ahead on a 39-yard march set up by a short SMU punt with Larry Dawson running over from the five. But Southern Methodist grabbed the lead again in the second period and never was headed.

Auburn Stops Alabama, 14-8

By LEROY SIMMIS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Sub-quarterback Richard Wood's passes and a rock-ribbed line brought Auburn a 14-8 victory over upsurging Alabama Saturday in a contest in doubt until the final 10 seconds.

The victory was Auburn's 24th in succession without defeat, although the string is marred by a tie with Georgia Tech six weeks ago.

With seven minutes to go and Auburn ahead 14-0, 149-pound Marvin Dye sped nine yards outside his right end for the Alabama touchdown. Quarterback Bobby Jackson tossed to Gary O'Steen to make it 14-8 and set the stage for Dykes.

The victory drove well with the kickoff, but a fumble gave Alabama a final chance from its 27.

Alabama worked the ball to the Auburn 28, only to have a final desperation pass fall incomplete and lose the ball.

Auburn drove 53 yards in nine plays midway of the opening period, the payoff coming on a 3-yard toss from Wood to Jimmy Pettus.

Another Auburn score came in the fourth quarter when fullback Jimmy Reynolds drove across from the one. That ended a 40-yard drive with Wood's 23-yarder to end Joe Leichtman the big gainer. That made it look simple until a 15-yard penalty against Auburn for a personal foul set Alabama up on the Auburn 45 for its scoring drive.

Chicago Writers Vote Comisky Award To Dykes

CHICAGO (AP)—Jimmy Dykes, recently signed as a coach by the Pittsburgh Pirates, was voted the J. Louis Comisky memorial award by Chicago baseball writers.

The award, symbolic of long and meritorious service to baseball, will be presented to Dykes at Chicago's 19th annual Diamond Dinner Jan. 18.

With seven minutes to go and Auburn boss for part of the 14 seasons he served with the Chicago White Sox. Comisky paid $150,000 to the Philadelphia Athletics in 1932 for Dykes, Al Simmons and Mule Haas.

Dykes managed the Sox from May 8, 1934, to May 25, 1946, and since has piloted Hollywood, Philadelphia and Baltimore before returning as a coach at Cincinnati two years ago. He was stand-in skipper of the Redlegs when Birdie Tebbets resigned last August.

Dykes was manager of the Sox during the days the club was operating on a shoe-string and led them to six first division finishes in a span of 10 years.

BOWLING BALL FIND

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—President Eisenhower, in the role of delighted West Point grad, helped root Army to a 22-6 victory over Navy Saturday.

The President shed his mantle of neutrality as commander in chief of all the armed forces to plug warmly for the cadets.

Old soldier Eisenhower, a West Point halfback years ago, passed up a 50-yard-line seat in the stands at Philadelphia in favor of a comfortable chair in front of a television set.

He watched the game from his cozy vacation residence at the Augusta National Golf Club. Another enthusiastic Army rooster in the room was the President's son, Maj. John Eisenhower, also a West Point graduate.

Before the game the President made a polite protocol bow to impartiality by wishing the Navy midshipmen as well as the Army cadets good luck. He did that in telegrams to Coaches Eddie Erdelatz of Navy and Earl (Red) Blaik of Army.

In advance of the game, Eisenhower got another round of golf in chilly but sunny weather.

Sunday morning he will meet here with Secretary of State Dulles for a discussion of the Western Allies' strategy in dealing with Russia's moves to get United States, British and French occupation forces out of West Berlin.

BEAN'S SHOPPING FOR KEY PLAYERS

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves will be out to strengthen the bench and shop around for a catcher and an outfielder at the annual winter baseball meeting in Washington beginning Monday.

"We could stand some catching help," General Manager John Quimby said Saturday, "and we need more depth on our bench, especially for pinch hitting. We'd like to find an experienced outfielder."

As for reports that shortstop Johnny Logan might be trade bait, Quimby said:

"He just had a bad year. In my mind he's still a good shortstop. Any discussion of trades has to be made on the basis of availability. How many good shortstops are available in the National League?"

BEAN'S NOT BEEN FIRED

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Dominic Olejniczak, president of the Green Bay Packers executive committee, Saturday night declined to comment on contract plans for coach Scooter McLean.

"Scooter McLean is going to Philadelphia for the draft choices as our head coach," he said.

"That's all I have to say." Under McLean, who has a one year contract, the Packers this season have eight losses, one victory and a tie with two games remaining on the schedule.

Frick already has gone on record as favoring passage.

Chris von Saltza of Santa Clara, Calif., took four National AAU women's swimming titles during 1958. Three titles were in freestyle and one in backstroke.

Carin Cone, Nancy Ramey and Susie Orrogh won three National AAU women's swimming crowns in 1958.

Vertex Triumphs At Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vertex resisted a bold rush by Sharpsburg in the stretch Saturday and pulled away for a length-and-a-quarter victory in the $50,000 Pimlico Special.

Racking up his fourth straight victory, the 4-year-old chestnut son of the Rhymed filly from start to finish in the 22nd running of the mile and three-sixteenths event.

Better Bee was third and Tick Tock fourth and last.

Because of the small field there was no betting on the special and the management added a ninth race to the program.

Vertex' time was a fair 2:00 3-5 over a track made muddy by an all-night rain.

Smartly ridden by Sammy Bouleme, Vertex ran his total earnings to $268,245 with the $55,000 winner's share of the purse.

CARLINVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Blackburn College controlled the backboards down the stretch and in overtime Saturday and made it pay off in a 90-87 victory over the Eureka Trojans.

Eureka led 41-35 at halftime but Jim Matta, a 6-foot-3, 230-pound rebounder, quickly picked up his fourth foul in the second half and Blackburn took over under the boards.

Dick McGuire's goal for Blackburn with five seconds left tied it 60-60 at the end of regulation time.

Jim McClure threw in 24 points.

Drew Thurston 18 and Gary Craig 17 for the winners. Fritz Alexander hit 27. Dennis Gould 20 for the Red Devils.

Eureka hit 47 per cent from the floor for the game. Blackburn 39, but the winners got more shots.

Legume And Grass Seed Supplies Under Normal

URBANA — Legume and grass seed supplies will be adequate for 1959, although 1958 production was smaller for most seed crops. W. O. Scott, University of Illinois agronomist, reported this week. Prices of most seeds will be high.

Government estimates show a slightly larger red clover seed crop, but growers are still holding much of this seed on farms. Prices for next year are still uncertain, but Scott expects them to be slightly higher.

Total alfalfa seed production dropped nine per cent in 1958. However, hardy common variety supplies are about the same as they were last year. Improved variety supplies are lower. Ranger stocks are much below last year, and prices will be up. Production of Vernal was higher, but the demand for it will be strong. Buffalo and Atlantic supplies are a little lower, but they are good buys, Scott reports. DuPuits also will be available, but prices will be about the same as those of last year.

Ladino seed will cost more in 1959. The supplies of surplus seed have been used up, but this crop is still worth seeding, Scott points out. He urges all farmers to make sure they get certified seed.

Farmers who want to plant birdsfoot trefoil will find that supplies are up and prices have dropped about 50 per cent from last year. For pasture, Scott recommends Empire and New York strains.

Among the grass seeds, the timothy seed crop suffered the greatest production cut, being about 23 per cent below last year. Old seed carryover is also down, so total supply is about 16 per cent less. Prices are up sharply, and farmers may want to consider substituting another grass seed for timothy.

Supplies of tall fescue, reedtop and orchard grass are not greatly different from last year and prices will be only a little higher.

The bromegrass seed crop was only 30 per cent as large as last year, but a large carryover makes the total supply only nine per cent lower. Farmers will therefore have to pay only a little more in the year ahead.

Lespedeza supplies are up 15 per cent. Sweet clover supplies are down sharply, but fewer farmers are using this crop now. Canadian imports will help to fill the gap.

'58 Gibberellin-Treated Beans Show No Benefits

URBANA — Soybeans treated with gibberellin in 1958 tests emerged sooner, flowered earlier and grew more rapidly during the first month. R. W. Howell, plant pathologist at the U.S. regional soybean laboratory, reported this week.

However, this fast treatment may have unbalanced the plant's development so that yields on the treated plots were no greater and sometimes less than on untreated plots.

In Illinois tests, untreated soybeans averaged 37.2 bushels an acre when harvested with a regular commercial combine. Beans growing in gibberellin-treated soil averaged about the same. Plots receiving both foliage and soil treatments and the foliage treatment alone applied about five days after emergence also showed no effect.

But on plots given soil, foliage and seed treatments, yields

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

In the words of Station Superintendent Bob Webb, "Round-up is over but the work is just beginning."

Branding

One of the tasks to be done is the branding of 2-year-old heifers bred to start calving in February. These heifers were ear tattooed on the day they were born. But as they go into the producing herd they must be branded with their number for easy and quick identification on pasture—particularly at calving time. Hot iron brands running into four numbers will be burned onto the left hip. George Cmarik, cattle researcher, has developed branding irons which work extremely well. The numbers are about three inches high with all angles and circles left open so that extreme heat concentration does not occur at these points with resultant indistinct marking.

The branding crew will heat the irons to a barely visible red glow, apply them to the animal with moderate pressure for five to six seconds, and expect a hide brand the color of saddle leather.

Tranquillizer Checks

Some of the work was taken out of round-up last week by the use of tranquilizers. This week Dr. Hoerlein and Dr. Mansfield, veterinarians, are checking calves to determine whether in addition to

'The Best Way' Eagerly Sought By All Farmers

The farm advisers of Morgan and Scott counties, aided by their extension councils and 24 farm supply dealers in the two counties, sponsored a tour and program which won acclaim Tuesday.

The theme of the day was easier feed handling.

More than 200 farmers, plus agriculture students from Winchester and Jacksonville High schools, visited three farms which demonstrated different, but highly successful, approaches to the subject.

At noon the women of St. Paul's Lutheran church served a sumptuous dinner which counteracted the effects of the cold, damp and blustery day.

The program which followed dealt in improved ways of making life on the farm happier and more productive—chiefly through planning, and the use of electricity.

The last again was called "the best hired man on the farm" as the specialists demonstrated how a small electric motor, if placed in the right spot and under the right conditions, can save backaches, time and money.

The first stop of the day was at the Dick Lizenby farm west of Merritt.

There the group studied the electrical system and the new "Pigloo" system of raising hogs recently installed on the 273 acre grain and livestock farm operated by Lizenby and his landlords: Hunter Funk of Winchester and his son-in-law, Andy Sauer.

The "Pigloo" is simply a little, eight-sided house built of marine plywood, with a concrete porch, eight by eight feet, in front of it. The roof is flat and the door is always open. The inventors strived to copy the "nest" of the farrowing sow, a place snug and warm and away from neighbors.

On the front porch is a two-way day-feeder: one for mama and another section filled with tasty and nourishing food for her calves. The purebred bull and heifer calves, of course, are muzzled to feeders filled with half roughage and half concentrate for the rations and treatment of the calves. The purebred bull and heifer calves, of course, are muzzled to feeders filled with half roughage and half concentrate for the rations and treatment of the calves.

The next stop was at the W. A. Martin farm west of Concord, where he has built a splendid farrowing house out of lumber from the old Burlington depot at Concord.

The lumber, transposed, now has been formed into a building where 14 sows can have their pigs in almost tropical surroundings. The concrete floor where Mama lies, is a comfortable 68 degrees, but her infants can move just a few inches on either side and there it is 80 degrees, where young'uns can stretch, lounge around in pleasure, and grow.

The third stop was with Arlo Schumacher, who raises 1,500 hogs a year. He has a farrowing house with a capacity of 40 mothers, and he usually has as many as 190 families reared there each year. He uses hot water pipes to keep the children warm.

Those in principal charge of the meeting, were George E. Trull and Dale Hewitt, farm advisers of Morgan and Scott county; Karl Longenbaugh, rural power use adviser of the Illinois Rural Electric Co., Winchester; Frank Andrew and Harold Beatty of the U.I. agriculture engineering department.

Field Tour Asks: Any Easier Way To Do?

This shows Mama pig coming back to check on her 11 kids in a Pigloo on the Dick Lizenby farm west of Merritt. They apparently feel no pain, as they bask atop a crushed corn cob bed under the warmth of a heat light. Safety engineers, though, promptly pointed out that the light should be housed in protective shield. It could explode, and maybe the fragments could set fire to the entire place.

This shows a section of the Morgan-Scott farmers who participated in the field tour Tuesday. They are checking one of the newer developments in the business of raising pork, a "Pigloo" which attempts to simulate the "natural way" wild animals build nests to bear their young in isolated quarters.

The third stop in the tour was at the colorful and efficient farm of Arlo Schumacher northwest of Chapin. He raises 1,500 hogs a year and this photo was taken as he told the many visitors to his farm that he liked to finish his hogs on concrete.

"Maybe it's cheaper to have them out in the field," he said, "but it's more convenient to keep them at home."

At 4-H Leaders Recognition Dinner

Leaders of Illinois 4-H clubs were honored Tuesday at the 13th annual Leaders' Recognition banquet held at the Abraham Lincoln hotel in Springfield. Representing Morgan county were, from left, Mrs. Veronika Burgess, Morgan-Scott youth adviser; Mrs. Edward Scott, leader of the Jacksonville Domestic Dandies; Mrs. Roy Nickel, leader of the Concord Busy Bees; Mrs. Donald Mullen of the Bluffs Stitch and Stir club, and Mrs. Lyle Bates, also of Bluffs, of the Scott County Home Bureau.

BILLING ALTERNATED

NEW YORK (AP)—The billing of the two stars in the Broadway comedy, "The Marriage - Go-Round," is being rotated.

Producers Paul Gregory ordered programs to carry the cover photo of Charles Boyer one day, and that of Claudette Colbert, the following day. Newspaper advertisements also alternate the top billing.

Gregory said he thought it was the only way to be fair to the stars. And he rightly figured that it would bring comment.

Merge Athletic Program Of Two Unit 27 Schools

CONCORD—The Board of Education of Community Unit No. 27 has voted to combine interscholastic competitive activities of the two high schools, according to the rules and regulations of the Illinois High School Association, for the 1958-1959 school year.

As previously announced, this action applies only to activities in which interscholastic competition is controlled by Illinois High School Association.

For the purpose of this competition, there will be only one high school in name, but there will be the two in so far as attendance centers are concerned, and activities other than interscholastic competition will continue as is.

In administration, one of the administrators will have to be designated as principal. However, the same supervision in each attendance center will remain, with the title changed to Assistant Principal or Assistant Superintendent, whichever the Board decides.

Coaching duties will be divided between the two coaches; for example, one would be football coach and be assisted by the other, and for basketball the duties reversed.

PARENTS' NIGHT AT JHS

Controversy, freedom of speech and majority rule were subjects discussed above at a special "Parents' Night" Monday evening at Jacksonville high school. Parents are shown here with their sons and daughters, who are taking a course in "Principles of Philosophy" at JHS, conducted by MacMurray College Dr. Leroy Garrett, Assistant Professor of Philosophy, teaches the course. Dr. Louis Norris, president of MacMurray is standing while talking to the group.

Students themselves conducted the evening's activities, with parents participating in a discussion session later. The younger generation qualified for the course with superior intelligence. Begun in 1957 with 20 students, it is designed to assist the abler students as they prepare for college and as they come in contact with the world of ideas.

A definite time limit will be placed upon the length of practice sessions, and transportation will be provided between the two attendance centers for participating students. Practice will be alternated between the two centers on an equal basis. Home games or contests will be divided between the two centers on an equal basis.

A school name, team name, and colors will be selected, probably by the students of both schools. Cheerleaders will be chosen from both schools on an equal basis.

The present name, Community Unit School District No. 27 includes Arenville, Chapin, and Concord.

On Dec. 14 a Unit 27 Band and Vocal concert will be presented at Concord at 2:30 p.m.

White Hall PTA Hears Blackburn College Chaplain

WHITE HALL — Rev. Joseph Dana, chaplain at Blackburn College, was guest speaker at the Parent-Teacher Assn. meeting on Monday night. He stressed the importance of full cooperation between homes, churches and schools in directing the life pattern of today's youth.

A panel discussion was held with Grover Sparks, moderator, panel members being Bonnie Sparks, Abbie Jean Edwards, Bonnie Sue Harp, Marilyn Lemons, and Robert Larson. Each of the panel members gave an interesting description of the youth work being done in the local churches.

The class of Mrs. W. J. Ritchey, fourth grade, won the parent-attendance prize, being 24 pupils in the class with eight parents attending the meeting.

Baptist Church Plans Meetings In Greenfield

GREENFIELD — A group of Baptist church organizations has set early December dates for holiday meetings. The afternoon group of the Baptist Mission Circle will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 4, at the home of Mrs. Lee Watt with Mrs. Allen Cole, co-chairman. Mrs. Paul Kinsler will lead the devotions and the program will carry out the Christmas theme with Mrs. Edwin Heiber, leader.

The Dorcas Circle, the night group of the organization, will be entertained Monday evening, Dec. 1, in the home of Mrs. Robert Garner and Mrs. Earl Kennedy, assisting hostess. Mrs. J. W. Yarbrough will conduct the devotional service in keeping with the Christmas story and a collection of clothing and toys for needy children will be made instead of a gift exchange among members.

A special program has been arranged on the subject of our 49th state by Mrs. A. B. Kessey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pembroke, who with her husband Sgt. Kessey, and family were stationed in Alaska several years. Mrs. Charles Meneley is hostess chairman for a potluck supper and Christmas party of the Philathaea class of First Baptist church at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 9, in the church annex social rooms. Members will make donations to the church building fund instead of the personal gift exchange. Miss Pearl Bermes will be narrator of Christmas stories as the program feature. Mrs. Frank Greer and Miss Pearl Bermes are co-chairmen of arrangements for the Tree of Lights which will be in front of the church.

COBBLES' PATRON

St. Crispin, a saint about whom nothing is known but the legend that he gave up his property in Rome and supported himself as a shoemaker until he was martyred under the Emperor Maximilian, is the patron saint of cobblers.

Of Civil Defense Day In Jersey

JERSEYVILLE—Plans for observance of National Civil Defense Day, December 7th (Pearl Harbor anniversary) have been completed for Jersey county, according to Robert Reese, civil defense director for the county.

The program will include as speakers, the Reverend Leonard F. Todd of Alton, former pastor of the Peace Evangelical and Reformed churches at Fieldon and Jerseyville, and William Pierce Maxam of Battle Creek, Mich., planning officer for Region Four of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

The present plans call for the program to begin promptly at 2:30 p.m. in the gymnasium auditorium of the Jerseyville East elementary school. The grade school chorus will be seated on the platform at the rear of the speaker's rostrum preliminary to the start of the program. With the drawing aside of the curtains, the program will begin with color guards from the VFW and American Legion posts advancing down the main aisle of the auditorium and posting the colors. The choral group will open with the national anthem "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America."

The Reverend Leonard F. Todd will speak on the theme "Pearl Harbor Day." The Reverend Todd is a veteran of World War Two and saw much service as a chaplain in the Pacific theatre of that war.

The Rings Of Saturn

By Rip Barnsdall

Chapter 1: Where Next In Space?

After the Ganymede horror, space travel interest declined sharply on earth. The space lines had so quickly come into being, as quickly sank out of sight.

Exploration in space was again put back entirely in the hands of the Rocket Patrol.

The moons of Jupiter were officially explored, but conditions were such that earth colonies on them would be of no value whatsoever.

Rick Wilson, in a conversation with Bob Elliott, put it into a nutshell when he said, "Starting earth colonies on Jupiter's moons would bring as much results as trying to grow hair on a billiard ball."

The earth's moon by now had four good-sized cities on it besides Moon City. Its population numbered over 200,000 earthmen.

Mars was still closed to colonization as Dr. Marckham's policy of dealing with the natives still had a number of years to run.

So the Rocket Patrol looked to space. Mercury, because of its closeness to the sun, was out. Jupiter, because of its heavy gravity atmospheric conditions was out.

The far planets, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto might possibly possess mineral wealth, but were unfit for colonization because of their terrifically cold temperatures. A master plan for the exploration of Venus was being worked on at the rocket base, but this would take at least another four years to complete.

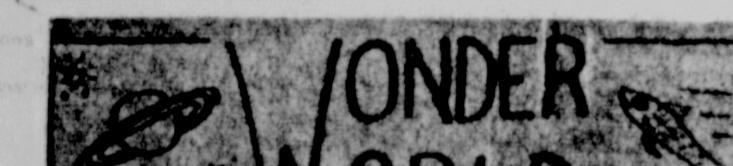

What remained? The planet Saturn with its rings.

Off To Saturn

The Saturn bound ship took off from the rocket base which now port for space rockets. The ship had become the main launching was piloted by a recent graduate of the Academy, Hank Farmer.

FLAG FISH

FLAG FISH

By Rip Barnsdall

The Flag Fish is one of the few tropical fishes which originates in the United States. It can be found in the wild state in Florida.

It is a small fish, seldom reaching a length over two inches. It is somewhat similar in appearance to the sunfish of the midwest.

Scientifically known as Jordanella floridae, this fish is named after David Starr Jordan, one of the more famous scientists who studied fishes, and the state of Florida.

The male is much more colorful than the female. The female is mainly silver-green in color, with faint tinges of red at the base of the fins.

The male appears to be checkered with red, blue, and green sections. A fairly large black spot is to be found in just about the middle of the body.

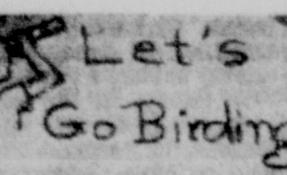

The male is to be found in just about the middle of the body.

Egg-Layers

Flag fishes are egg-layers. As such, they aren't difficult to spawn, but other requirements make them somewhat difficult aquarium fish to handle.

It is a heavy eater, preferring plant food. If algae is handy it will thrive on it. If not, a good substitute is boiled spinach.

The flag fish isn't considered a good community fish (unless much larger fishes are present since it likes to pick fights).

"Crazy as a Loon"
By Emma Mae Leonhard
Everything about November 15 seemed as "crazy as a loon." Frogs, "crazy as loons," were croaking just ten days before Thanksgiving; at least, they were at Lake Mauvais-terre.

A dandelion flower was foolhardy enough to be stretching up above its leaves; it didn't seem to have sense enough to be apprehensive of approaching frosts and snuggle down in the protection of a leaf-covered plant.

On that same November morning it was raining, a kind of spring-morning drizzle that came and went. Even the weather didn't seem to know that it was a fall morning.

The non-surface road around Lake Jacksonville was a slippery mess, too treacherous to cover by car. And yet some bird lovers, "crazy as loons," slithered through the mud in search of late-migrating birds.

As we scanned the surface of lake water at the dam, we soon discovered four long-bodied, low-lying dark birds on the smooth, crystal-gray water, one of them in the midst of a flock of decoy ducks. We immediately recognized them as Common Loons.

We weren't too surprised to find them, as they migrate through our territory in both spring and fall, and we had seen five of them the week before. We were, however, a bit surprised to find four of them still with us.

They are solitary birds and seem contented when they are alone. Thinking that this might be the last time this fall to enjoy them, we stayed a short time, watching them dive like magic and reappear anywhere.

Then we turned our back on the lake and went in search of land birds. Soon we caught an unusual sound. "What was that?" we chorused. One birder suggested that it might have come from one of the Loons. And then the suggestion seemed so foolhardy that nobody, even the one who spoke believed it. And so we wandered on, thinking that it was one of those unsolved nature mysteries.

Then all of a sudden a weird almost hysterical laughter burst out of us from that same gray lake. Once twice three times it pursued us. Could nature be taunting us for being so ignorant? No, it was the healthy call of a Loon.

The birder who had carelessly guessed that the earlier call might be a Loon's wasn't sure enough to report. "I told you so!" All of us just stopped, wondered, and listened for more. But we heard no more screams even if we birded in the neighborhood of the lake for two more hours.

Why were we so startled? It wasn't because we had never heard a Loon's call before; we had heard it in Minnesota on its breeding grounds. But, from our knowledge, it had never been heard from our lakes.

Then it was morning, and we associated the Loon's unearthly call with the fall of night and the hours of darkness. Furthermore, it was autumn and migration time for the Loon; and the Loon seldom utters its uncanny call during migration. At any rate, and happily for us the Loon was crazy enough to break all laws and treat us with its most unrestrained natural cry described so differently by listeners as mournful, sinister, demoniacal, mirthful, hysterical, defiant.

Even if we had been "crazy as loons" to venture out on such a morning, we were glad that we had been so. We had been crazier than loons if we had denied ourselves the privilege of hearing just those four calls at Lake Jacksonville.

September canceled, without permission.
My engagement with the rose;
It froze the red of petals
To a wrinkled brown repose.

October touched the green of the maple
And singed it to a red.

That rivaled the crimson glory
Of the September rose then dead
November bribed me into good humor

With a condescending grin:

I covered the rose in a winter bed
And let the maple slip in.

Synopsis: Georgie and Billy's Daddy tells them of the mysterious note about the old muzzle-loading shotgun that once belonged to their Great-Grandfather. He also tells them of old Civil War days and the night Great-Grandfather helped some slaves to escape northward by what was called "The Underground Railway".

Chapter 5: What's To Be Done?

"Gee!" cried Billy excitedly. "Go on, Daddy."

"Oh, yes," Georgie chimed in, "What happened next?"

"Well," went on Daddy, "When Great-Grandfather opened the barn door, he stepped quickly inside and pulled it shut behind him. Hanging on a nail near the door Great-Grandfather kept a lantern. Quickly he lit it, and peered into its small circle of light.

"Where are you?" he asked in a commanding voice. "Come on out. I won't harm you." A scuffling sound from the hayloft above drew his attention, as a dark figure dropped to the floor beside him.

"Good Heavens," exclaimed Great-Grandfather. "You don't have enough clothes to keep you warm on a cold night like this.

And I'll wager she's dressed no better!"

"Yah, Sir," agreed the stranger.

"De law was mighty close he."

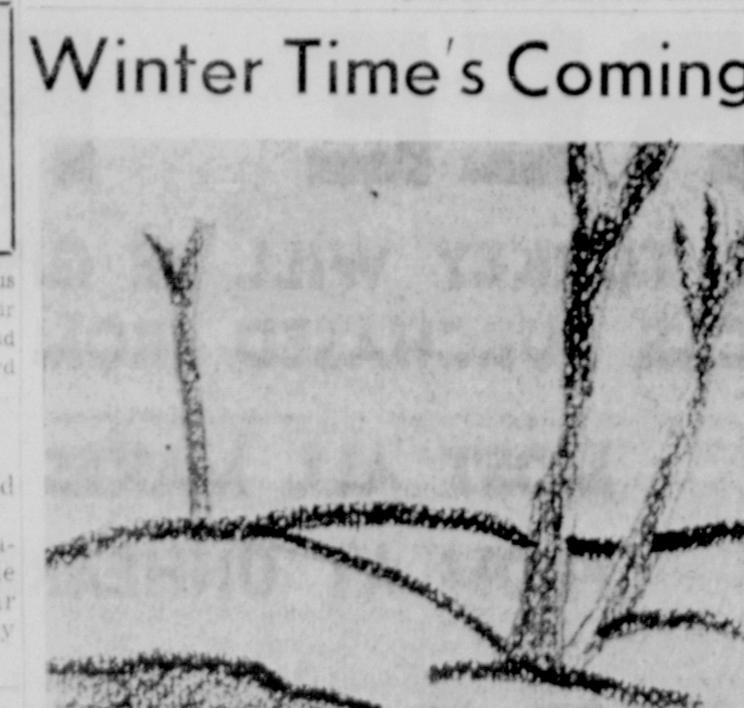

"Yah, Sir," answered the black man.

"And we didn't have time to leave."

He attended Jacksonville high school.

INAUSPICIOUS

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The debut of Richmond's permanent wildlife exhibit in Maymont Park was a bit inauspicious.

A gray fox escaped, two wild geese wandered away for a couple of hours and City Manager Horace Edwards was bitten twice on the hand by a skunk.

The ruffed grouse is the official game bird of Pennsylvania.

A page feature story, with these accompanying pictures, written by Mrs. Orin V. Duncan, of Winchester appears in the December issue of The Spinning Wheel. The article reproduced here by consent of the author and magazine publisher, tells of the history of an artificial Christmas tree purchased in 1925 and the accumulation of the many ornaments adorning the tree.

The tree will be decorated this year and on display by Dec. 14 in the Winchester home of the Duncans, avid connoisseurs of antiques.

With a young marrieds' practicality, inspired by reflection on the high cost and short usefulness of the live Christmas tree, and the subsequent clean-up operation—in our small house we couldn't pass our little fir without a shower of needles—we decided for the Christmas of 1925 to try an artificial tree.

We ordered a tall, dubiously from a leading mail order house "a finest quality imported tree" of "material that does not shed," in the six-foot size, with red berry tipped branches of glossy green, the approved—and only—color for Christmas trees then. Decked with familiar ornaments from previous years—some of them had hung on my childhood trees, some on my mother's—and a few new ones added, it made a showy and satisfactory tree.

30 Appearances

Now after more than thirty holiday appearances, it is still as handsome, and has the added attraction of being an "almost antique." Every Christmas season it's an old friend to be welcomed, to be lovingly hung with popcorn strings, garlands of tinsel older than the tree itself, and all the treasured ornaments which have multiplied with the years.

More than half of our ornaments are of pre-1925 vintage; some predate the century. Our earliest are German imports. The heavy glass balls, made prior to 1900, with cardboard caps or pleated insert and cord for hanging, have survived the years well, and it is possible to find occasional additions to our collection in antique shops and shows. Harder to find are the doll faces, harps, mandolins, angels, birds, bells, and fruit of the same period, for these were more delicately blown and more easily broken.

War Influence

When World War I cut off the ornament supply from Germany, some rather clumsy domestic efforts in blue, red, and silver foil, occasionally trimmed with tinsel, closed the gap.

In World War II, foil was used again, as well as metal, precious though it then was. We are especially fond of some crimped metal light reflectors and icicles of colored or twisted metal suspended by a thread, which twist and turn with the slightest movement, purchased during this wartime period.

Apparently they were made for one year only, for though we diligently searched, we never found them in the stores again.

Still Seeking

Other favorites we have sought, and failed to find, repeated, are silver stars, dating from the early twenties, with eight points of bright tinsel, centered with a red perry, and suspended by an almost invisible wire.

Part of the joy in our ever-ready tree is in sharing it. Our friends bring their friends, who bring their friends, to see our "old tree."

Occasionally some one asks: "Where can I get ornaments like these? I've looked, but never found them in the stores."

We have the answer ready. "You buy them for us, in antiques shops and shows, in attics, in old store stocks. Each year you purchase a few examples of the best in current manufacture. You save them carefully and treat them with respect. In thirty years, you'll have an 'antique' tree, too!"

HOLIDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Horn and Miss Harriet Dobbs of Jerseyville, Edward Quinler and daughter of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Berard Bruening of Springfield were Thanksgiving guests at the home of Leah Bruening at Chapin.

Guests present were Mrs. Warren Brockhouse, Mrs. Fred Fricke and Mrs. Harry Werries.

THIS IS THE ONE FOR WAGONS! 1959 CHEVY

Here are Chevrolet's five stunning new station wagons for '59. They're shaped to the new American taste with fresh, fine Slimline design. And they're beautifully practical—with roomier, quieter bodies by Fisher, an even smoother ride, new ease of handling!

Wagons were never more beautiful or dutiful. From low-set headlights to wing-shaped tailgate, these '59 Chevrolets are as sweet looking as anything on wheels. They're just about the handiest things on wheels, too—from their overhead-curving windshield to their longer, wider load platform. Besides additional cargo space (a full 10-foot span with the tailgate down), you also get added seating room (4 inches more in front, over 3 inches in back). And you'll find such other practical advantages as new easy-ratio steering, Safety Plate Glass all around, tougher Tyrex cord tires, bigger, safer brakes, smoother-than-ever Full Coil suspension and a roll-down rear window (electrically operated as standard on the 9-passenger Kingswood). Your dealer's waiting now with all the details on why this year—more than ever—Chevy's the one for wagons.

Meredosia Sportsmen's Club Holds Trapshoot

MEREDOSIA — Sunday the craft project Mary Standley and Meredosia Sportsmen's Club held a trapshoot at its clubhouse north of town. A clear, sunny day brought out a lot of shooters.

The first derby had forty shooters, and ended in a 49 x 50 tie between Charles Ruth, Herb Bush of Canton and Charles Bottger of Keokuk. Bush won the shoot-off with 24 x 25.

Thirty three shooters took part in the second derby, which also ended with three men tying with 49 x 50—O. L. Bemis of Mt. Sterling, Dick Hoover of Milton and Fred Kelly of Alton. Hoover was the shoot-off winner with 24 x 25.

Monday night the Kum-Join-Ups Club met at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Lathrop, with seventeen members attending.

The chief business was election of officers: president, Mrs. Thomas May; vice-president, Mrs. Jerome Ivin; secretary, Mrs. Robert Chambers; treasurer, Mrs. Harvey Dawson Sr.

The December meeting will include a potluck supper and gift exchange; the hostess will be Mrs. Earl Gregory.

After a pleasant evening of playing bingo, Mrs. Lathrop and Mrs. Alpha Ommen served pie with whipped cream, Christmas candies and nuts, coffee and tea. Mrs.

It was voted to donate most of the Auxiliary's picnic share—$700—to the Legion to use toward construction of its new building, now being erected.

Refreshment committee for the January meeting is Mrs. Robert

Dawson won the door prize.
Auxiliary

Tuesday night the Auxiliary of American Legion Post 516 held its regular meeting, attended by sixteen members.

The treasurer, Mrs. Gene Nortrup, reported that the Auxiliary's part of the annual picnic profit was $772.70.

Several gifts were decided: to deer hunting at West Branch Michigan. Mr. Schneider came home with a deer; he had the meat frozen and plans to have the head mounted. Mr. Smith passed up a chance for a shot at a deer because some people were dangerously close to his line of fire.

Present Bob Cat Awards To Cub Scout Pack 104

The Pack meeting of Cub Pack 104 was held Thursday at the Lincoln School. John Parrott, Cub Master, opened the meeting and called upon the Cub Scouts of Den 1 to conduct the flag ceremony.

An inspection was given the Cub Scouts conducted by Robert Quigley and Joseph Podleski. Quigley also reported on scout activities that are being planned for April of next year in Springfield and encouraged the pack to be represented at the events.

Skits were presented by Mrs. Frances Western's Den 1 and Mrs. Connie Newcombe's Den 2.

Cub Master Parrott presented Bob Cat pins to the following: Kris Howe, Eric Fretig, Montie Slavens, Richard Mortimer, Jimmie Cline, Dickie Scott, Jeffrie Wilson, Franklin Crawford, Robert Armstrong, Larry Hicks, Byron McPherson, Jordan Podleski, John Wallace, Roger and Robert Joe Russell.

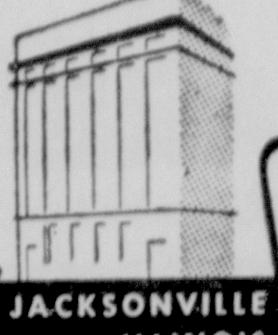

Other awards were presented to Gary Mattson, Harry Howe, Andy Applebee, Jack Newcombe, Steve Thaxton, Sammy Freitag, Alan Applebee and Stevie Giessop.

Parrott also announced that the next meeting would be held Dec. 11, at Lincoln School. After the meeting refreshments were served in the Lincoln School Cafeteria.

COMMANDS TRAINING CENTER

Commander Charles G. Edwards, a former Jacksonville man, is shown as he assumed command of the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, Forest Park, Ill., on Nov. 24. He was transferred from Washington, D.C. to Forest Park to succeed Charles A. Miller as commander of the center. Commander Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Edwards, 1106 West College avenue.

The new Training Center commander and his family are visiting at the home of his parents. Commander Edwards will leave this afternoon for the Training Center, but Mrs. Edwards and their three daughters will remain in Jacksonville until they establish a home at Forest Park.

Commander Edwards attended Illinois College in 1936-37, graduating from Purdue University in June, 1941, with a degree in chemical engineering. He was employed for a time with the Cyclone Fence Co., Waukegan.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941, serving in the Pacific area. For two years he was Provost Marshal of the Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for the past three years was stationed in Washington with the Bureau of Personnel, U.S. Navy.

Commander and Mrs. Edwards are parents of three daughters, Marian, Sarah, and Laura. Mrs. Edwards was formerly Miss Edna Sudman of State College, Penn.

Ashland Experiences Many Improvements

ASHLAND—Ashland's greatest construction season is drawing to a close. The State Bank of Ashland enlargement and the Lockett Drive-in Cleaners building are the latest business district improvements.

The bank addition, which more than doubles the area occupied by the bank, utilizes crab orchard stone and limestone on the exterior to blend in with the appearance of the original building.

A new board of directors room, more privacy for conducting business, larger lobby, more work area and additional safety deposit boxes will be available when the interior remodeling is completed.

The Lockett Cleaning plant is located across from the library and replaces the old recreation building which had been unoccupied for several years. The new building is built of concrete blocks and will feature modern dry cleaning and rug cleaning equipment along with the drive in window.

These two improvements along with the already completed Ashland Elevator office building and the Dodge Appliance and Laundromat building have been of great benefit in improving the business district appearance this year.

In addition, six new homes were begun this season in this city, the sixth being Paul Nolan's which was started last week next to the Thomas Plowright residence in the west part of this city.

Construction of the new grade school and remodeling of the high school, the largest project of the year, is nearly complete after a delay in finishing of the gym floor.

Mercury vapor street lights were placed throughout the business district and connected routes 128 and 123 with the business district, the new Alexander Lumber Co. office and yard buildings were built as were the new fire house, the new Church of Christ, replacing the one that burned, and the new Reiser Blacksmith building.

Dinner Honors Visitors Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Silas DeGroot and family attended a potluck dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Beard in Pleasant Plains, in honor of Mrs. Beard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Miers of Denver, Colo., who are also former Ashland residents.

On Monday evening the Davis' attended a potluck supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Calhoun in Pleasant Plains, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Miers.

Mrs. Mary Wright and Mrs. Letta Hammack installed the installation of the Pleasant Plains OES chapter Monday night. Mrs. Hammack served as installing organist.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Tucker of Hammond, Ind., were weekend visitors at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Neta Turner.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY — Rep. Coya Knutson, at a press conference in Washington, D.C. charged her defeat in the Nov. 4 elections was brought about by a "malicious conspiracy" which involved her husband. She asked a House investigation. Mrs. Knutson, the only Democrat House member to be defeated by a Republican, came into the limelight earlier this year when her husband, Andrew, declared his opposition to her Congressional career and launched a "Coya Come Home" campaign.

SETTLE STRIKE — The Studebaker-Packard strike, which idled some 6,200 workers, was settled in South Bend, Ind. Here, a back-to-work agreement is signed by (left to right, seated) Woodrow Frick, vice-president, Studebaker-Packard local 5, UAW; T. Forrest Hanna, president of the local, and C. M. Macmillan, director of industrial relations of Studebaker-Packard. Terms of the agreement were not announced. (NEA Telephoto)

Shields, secretary of the local camp.

Rev. and Mrs. William Widbin, who have been serving as missionaries in New Guinea, told of their work in the missionary field at a meeting Wednesday night at the Presbyterian church. A fellowship hour and basket supper preceded the program.

The local Parent Teacher Association met Tuesday night in the elementary school and the theme was "Libraries and Reading," with Miss Lorene Sooy as program chairman. Feature of the evening was a display of books by a publishing house. A group of students from the fourth grade through senior high presented a playlet, "Books to Grow On," and a film "Impressionable Years" was shown. Mrs. Mary Alice Traver of the junior-senior high language arts department spoke regarding the responsibilities of parents in the reading program. Special music was also rendered, Mrs. C. O. Bulger, Mrs. John Vandaveer and Mrs. James Perkins visited with Mrs. Lois Jones in Brighton Friday. Mrs. Jones, the former Halle Duncan, was one of the few members of the 1908 class of the Greenfield High School who was unable to attend the 50th anniversary reunion held last May preceding the annual Greenfield High School Alumni banquet.

Civil Defense Program

A program in the interest of national security and civil defense was presented at a meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday night in the social rooms of the Legion Home. Mrs. Jo H. Valentine was department chairman. Plans were discussed for the organization of a Junior Auxiliary and for a meeting next month honoring the new group. Mrs. Elbert Ferguson, Mrs. Athene Vinyard, Mrs. Harold Haven, Mrs. Leo Price and Mrs. Howard Houlette were hostesses. The date of the American Legion Auxiliary Christmas party has been changed from Dec. 18 to Dec. 17. The change was made because of the annual holiday concert by the instrumental and vocal music departments of the unit school district scheduled for Dec. 18.

The students of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades held a dance Friday night in the high school gym.

The Baptist church will again have a tree of lights, as part of their Christmas program. Mrs.

H. Frank Greer is chairman, Mrs. Cleta Harr was hostess to the Fleur de Lis Club at a special meeting Monday night honoring Mrs. J. L. Suttles of Jonesville, Va., a charter member who is visiting here. Guests were Mrs. Doll Duncan and Mrs. W. L. Greene. Members present were Mrs. Harry Painter, Alton, Mrs. W. J. Tendick, Jerseyville, Mrs. Guy Secor, Mrs. Charles Burroughs, Mrs. J. Howard Parks, Mrs. Vernon Koehm, Mrs. Louis C. Tendick, Mrs. Minor Barton and Miss Effie Thorpe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ford of River Forest, Ill., have been visiting his sisters, Mrs. George W. Shane of Rockbridge and Mrs. J. Howard Parks and Mrs. Fred Masters of this city.

XXIV

The quality of noises around them changed as they went up the stairs, and its place was taken by the noises of the house itself gone mad.

Katherine opened her eyes to the pandemonium. The kitchen flexed its muscles and rearranged itself. Then her shoulder grazed the jamb of the door into the living room as she was dragged mercilessly on.

She thought: Where is she taking me? She knew the answer, and she accepted it with some of the old indifference.

The time had come for her to die.

Katherine's eyes embraced the whole violent, earthquake scene—the bar swinging in and out, the windows, the flying fire screen; she caught a bare glimpse of her broken glasses still lying on the hearth, of the impressions in the couch where they had all sat so recently; and above the uproar she heard the radio still playing, the announcer's voice saying: "... will conclude with a program of..."

And then they were through the windows, tripping on the glassills. The open sky swung out over their heads. Katherine thought: She's taking me to the beach. She's going to drown me.

She lunged suddenly sideways, breaking the pace, doubling the agony in her scalp, as if it had suddenly burst into flame. She had caught hold of one leg of the big iron table. She thought: I mustn't let go. I must hold on whatever happens.

The table moved an inch or two under her weight, the metal scraping on the flagstones. Aunt Millie flung herself around, the low mumble rising to a howl again.

"Let go of it! Let go!"

She moaned, feeling her shoulders tearing apart, trying to pull off her shoes, and stretch between the weight of the table and the agony of her hair. The blows began again, and then stopped, and she was pulled on another three or four feet across the stones, while the wild noise of the house crashed and thumped in her ears, and the mutter of her aunt's voice dripped over her.

She kept her eyes clamped tightly shut. The pulling on her relaxed for a moment.

There was no time to lose. Katherine began to lift herself.

The stream of meanings sounds pouring out of Aunt Millie's mouth had begun to yell into words. She stood for a moment with her hands on her hips staring down at the twisted figure, garlanded around the table leg. And Katherine, gazing emptily up at her, only half seeing her, caught a rush of words: "... drown her with her clothes on... get her undressed."

Aunt Millie was untying the sand belt at her waist. She shook it out to its full length, then began to wind it around Katherine's wrists, tying her to the leg of the iron table.

She had no idea of how to fight back. Her only thought was to delay the process as long as she could, to gain as much time as she was able; and without thinking of what she was doing she let her legs go from under her, felt the cold, straight leg of the table sliding up her back, and collapsed in a heap on the sand, letting her head fall forward until it was almost in her lap.

She thought: But I can't hold her up for very long. If I'd only put on something else this morning when I changed my clothes...

But she had put on the first comfortable thing she saw in her closet.

And already the black figure was bending over her, fumbling with the buttons. The fingers were pulling off her shoes, and
